

SYSTEM FOR AND METHOD OF WEB
BASED NON-WAGE COMPENSATION

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention is directed to a system for and a method of a disbursement system which includes an input module configured to receive a disbursement request and an authorization module configured to apply predetermined rules to the disbursement request. Also included in the present invention is an accounting module configured to track available funds from which particular disbursements are to be made and an output module configured to process approved disbursement requests.

25065642.1